This resource guide was compiled with the help of the Youth Justice Project Coalition

The Youth Justice Project (YJP) was created in 2015 by Community Legal Services and Philadelphia Legal Assistance to more holistically address the needs of youth living in poverty in Philadelphia. YJP seeks to transform advocacy on behalf of low-income and vulnerable youth ages 16 to 24 by:

- 1) Creating a holistic and age-sensitive model for legal representation,
- 2) Developing strategic community partnerships to facilitate referrals and share resources among youth advocates in Philadelphia, and
- 3) Advancing needed policy changes to ensure youth can transition successfully to adulthood.

Members of the Youth Justice Project Coalition include:

Community Legal Services
Philadelphia Legal Assistance
Juvenile Law Center
Education Law Center
Youth Sentencing and Reentry Project
Defender Association of Philadelphia
The Pennsylvania DMC Youth/ Law Enforcement Corporation
Legal Clinic for the Disabled

CHILD CARE & EARLY LEARNING

If you need to find child care, the best place to start is calling the Child Care Hotline at 1(888) 461-KIDS (5437). They will help you find child care that is close by and is right for you and your child's needs. If you get cash assistance or SNAP (food stamps), the County Assistance Office will cover the full cost if you are in an approved education, work, or job search program. If you do not get cash assistance or SNAP but still have a low income, you may qualify for subsidized child care through Child Care Information Services. Speak with them to find out more information.

If there is an emergency and you need someone to look after your child aged newborn-5 right away, for example if you need to stay in the hospital for a few days, call Crisis Care Nurseries at (215)386-0251.

FAMILY PLANNING/REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH

There are many family planning clinics in Philadelphia that provide confidential services for teenagers (male and female) at no cost. To find one of these clinics in your neighborhood, call Access Matters Teen Hotline at (215) 985-3300. Family planning services can be accessed directly without a referral from a primary care physician.

If you are pregnant, most health care providers are able to provide or refer you for counseling about your options regarding your pregnancy. Options counseling involves discussing topics such as carrying the child to term, abortion, and adoption. For more resources on options counseling, call the CHOICE hotline at 215-985-3300 if you are in Philadelphia and 1-800-848-3367 outside of Philadelphia. You can also call your local health care center or search online for a local health care center near you.

In addition to family planning clinics, there are many other organizations, such as the ones below, that can help you get the medical care, family planning, and materials that you need.

GENERAL HEALTH SERVICES

There are many health care centers throughout Philadelphia. They will all see uninsured, under-insured, and undocumented individuals for sick and well visits, but take most forms of private insurance, medical assistance and CHIP.

For general information about available services, or to find out where a Health Care Center in your area is located, call (215) 685- 6790, Monday - Friday, 8:30 am - 5 pm. Many of the centers have staff who speak Spanish, Vietnamese, Cambodian, Russian and other languages. Some of the health care centers provide free dental services. Call the main number to find out which one is closest to you.

Philadelphia Citizens for Children and Youth (PCCY) will help you and your family apply for free or low cost health insurance, get health care for children with special needs, and help you find ways to pay for prescription drugs. Call (215)563-5848 x17 to access their services.
